

Cannibal Creek Sauvignon Blanc 2009

Description

Once again Cannibal Creek's terroir has produced a delicious sauvignon blanc with minerally and flinty characters complemented with citrus and tropical fruit aromas. 12.5% alc/vol. 7.4 std drinks. Stelvin screwcap closure.

Wine Making

- Cold fermentation and lees contact are important factors.
- Clean fruit picked within 48hrs of attaining the correct figures we are looking for in the vineyard, then minimal handling all contribute to the fresh minerally style.

Reviews

'There isn't a lot of Australian varietal sauvignon blanc of international standard, but Cannibal Creek makes a wine of intense passionfruit and gooseberry flavour and nervy acidity... It's one of the few Australian makers whose sauvignon blancs can rival the best from Marlborough in New Zealand.'

Jeremy Oliver, The Australian Wine Annual, 2009

'...It's punchy and lingering core of tangy citrus, gooseberry and peachy fruit culminates in a long, briny and mineral finish of excellent persistence.'

Gourmet Traveller Wine Dec/Jan 2007 Edition, Best Wine Buys – under $30 Jeremy Oliver

'...an excellent example that shows varietal tropical fruit with notes of green herbs and minerals. The palate has unusually smooth texture and subtle flavour, counterbalanced by a very crisp, dry finish.'

Epicure The Age, November 2006, Ralph Kyte-Powell, Rated 4 ½ out of 5.

'Nicely made, with a mix of tropical and citrus fruit; has length and intensity, and a fry finish.'

90/100, James Halliday AWC 2007
