

Hardiker Pinot Noir 2006

Description

Pinot noir demands much of both vine grower and wine maker, at its best it is considered to be one of the finest wines of all. Pinot noir is most successfully grown in cool climates and the Hardiker plot is perfectly situated to achieve outstanding results. The Hardiker fruit is estate grown, picked at the same time and made the same way as the cannibal creek in French oak barriques. Through the process of assemblage we select the best barrels for the cannibal creek range and the rest goes into the excellent value Hardiker Range.

Reviews

"It's always exciting to encounter an inexpensive pinot noir that offers genuine varietal personality and good quality. This second label wine from Gippsland's Cannibal Creek is just that, a strawberryish, fruit-driven, rosewater-scented young wine with silky texture, good intensity and length, soft finish. A bargain."
